

SUFFRAGIST WAR LEADS FACTION TO HALT CONVENTION

Brooklyn Women Attempt to Prevent 'Tower Crowd' From Electing Their Own Officers.

Two widely divided groups of women at before Justice Jaycox in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn to-day and waited for the call of the calendar to reach the order to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued against Mrs. Jean Nelson Penfield and other leaders of the Woman's Suffrage party, technically known in the political circles as the "Tower crowd," because they transact their business in offices in the Metropolitan Pier.

The injunction was to prevent Mrs. Penfield and her friends from holding a convention to elect borough officers, superseding the officers elected by a convention of Brooklyn leaders, held at the home of Mrs. Talbert Perkins, No. 208 Gates avenue, where Mrs. Robert H. Elder was selected borough leader.

Fifty-eight members of both factions met at the Leeward Academy at No. 125 South Oxford street, several days ago, and saw Lawyer Sarah Stephenson block the Penfield steam roller with the preliminary injunction, also granted by Lawyer Jaycox. It was backed up with arguments showing that notices of the Penfield meeting had been sent out from Manhattan signed with the names of adherents of Mrs. Elder, who had no knowledge of the issuing of the notices. In the Elder group there was much indignation whispering and hat nodding over "the attempt to Tammanize the Brooklyn Woman's Suffrage Party." In the Penfield group were corresponding murmurs about "sneak conventions" and "cheap, low, political trickery."

HERE MAN PLEADS FOR "TOWER CROWD."

When the case was called Lawyer Amy Wren for the Home Rulers presented the side of the Brooklyn faction. She is not very tall, but she is very plump and pretty and she presented the case in a way that obviously pleased Justice Jaycox. She said that the "Tower Crowd" had invaded Brooklyn, and had appointed Deputy District leaders in all insurgent districts who were recognized at headquarters as the real leaders.

The more husband of Mrs. Martha Saffren pleaded the case for the "Tower Crowd." He contended that the court had no jurisdiction and that there had been no grievance anyway. Justice Jaycox took the papers, asked both sides to submit briefs and said he would give a decision next Wednesday, and if he granted the permanent injunction Mr. Saffren could have the issue tried out on Jan. 2.

Mrs. Penfield was in court and sent many bitter glances at Mrs. Gus Rubin, who is a power in the ranks of the Home Rulers.

NEW DISTRICT ATTORNEY
LOSES HIS LAST CASE.

Jury Decides Death of Boy Was Due to His Own Carelessness.

James C. Crosey, recently elected Republican District Attorney of Brooklyn, lost his last case today before taking office in the Supreme Court before Justice Putnam and a jury. Crosey was appearing as attorney for Mrs. Annie Blum, who is administratrix of the estate of Emanuel Bernstein, a son by a former marriage.

Mrs. Blum brought suit for damages against Mrs. Ellen T. Elder of No. 770 Madison avenue, alleging that an automobile owned by Mrs. Elder killed her thirteen-year-old boy while he was crossing the street near his home at Remond street and Ridgewood avenue, Brooklyn. The tragedy, it is claimed, occurred on the morning of Oct. 20, 1909, when the automobile occupied by Mrs. Elder's son, George, was returning from the Vanderbilt Cup races.

A number of witnesses were called for both sides to testify as to the speed the car was going when the boy was struck and killed. The jury decided that the boy had been negligent and they brought in a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The records of the Supreme Court show that a Mrs. Ellen Merce Elder, was divorced from a George W. Elder, a partner in the firm of Havemeyer &

TWO CAUGHT NEAR BANK HELD IN $1,500 BAIL.

Farrington and Parker, Well Known to Police, Must Stand Trial.

Joseph Farrington, alias English Harry, and Harvey Parker, known to the police as Darbo, both having long records as pickpockets, who were arrested yesterday near the National Park Bank, were arrested today before Magistrate O'Connor in the Centre Street Police Court on the charge of "unlawful entry with intent to commit crime and being well known criminals." Complaint was made by George Lawler, a one-armed special policeman of the bank.

Lawler saw Farrington and Parker enter the bank in company with a third person yesterday morning. He told Magistrate O'Connor that Farrington and Parker had been seen near the bank watching different persons draw money from the bank. Lawler and Farrington stated out an old gentleman who was counting money at a table, and had preceded him out of the bank. Lawler recognized Farrington as a man he had arrested on June 25, 1907, on Long Island and followed him from the bank. He saw Farrington a few blocks from the bank. Parker was arrested by Police Officer Bullock when Lawler saw his police badge. The third man escaped.

DEPORT TITLED FOREIGNER. Detectives Watch Departure of Mysterious Nobleman.

When the French liner La Provence sailed today there were one or two mysterious men standing at the foot of every gangplank. The ship's officers said that they had put on board a titled foreigner who had made himself disliked by certain people of wealth in country, and was being pirated, according to the Pinkerton office. The men represented themselves as operators of the Pinkerton agency, but denied that the agency had any knowledge of the matter, or had any operators at the sailing of La Provence.

Neither the ship's officers nor the watching detectives would tell the deported nobleman was.
